

Down the River with Wine and Song

Drifting down the Potomac River as it sweeps past Maryland's scenic Frederick County is one of the Mid-Atlantic's true outdoor pleasures. Add a private tasting at a noted regional winery and a concert under the stars, and you get close to perfection.

River & Trail Outfitters offers guided whitewater rafting, tubing, kayaking, and canoeing trips in the historic Harpers Ferry area. The outfitter's paddle trips and lessons cover the Potomac River, Shenandoah River, and Antietam Creek in Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia. This year, River & Trail has teamed up with Tarara Winery in Loudoun County, Virginia, to present a series of unique paddle and wine tours.

Combining a river journey with Tarara Winery's "Sounds of Summer" concert series enables adventurers to enjoy a full day of excitement. River & Trail's guides meet paddlers at the winery, and then transport the party to the launch spot. Both kayaks and canoes are available for the leisurely seven-mile float down the Potomac.

"It's a very scenic section of the Potomac because of all of the river islands," says
